

James H. Clark, CPP

For nearly forty years Jim has worked as an independent security consultant in institutional, government, and corporate clients in industrial, food distribution, healthcare, cultural properties, higher education, manufacturing, distribution, financial services, and for the past 15 years in cultural properties in over 25 countries on five continents. In recent years, his practice has focused almost exclusively on expert witness services in both plaintiff and defense matters throughout the US.

After receiving his Bachelor of Science Degree in Criminal Justice, at Buffalo State University, Jim began his career as a police officer before moving into the financial service industry in banking and later with a wealth management firm. Jim began attending IAPSC meetings in 1986 and became a permanent member in 1991 when he started his own security consulting practice. Since joining he has served as a long-time board member, secretary, treasurer, and president from 1997 to 1999. For nearly 20 years, Jim has served as a member of the Forensic Methodology Committee.

With the exception of a couple of slow-moving forensic cases, Jim is happily retired and spends most of his time reading, volunteering, and planning his next vacation or hiking trip with family and friends.
