· IAPSC's Certified Security Consultant (CSC) designation garners attention in Security Technology Executive Magazine Article: "To my thinking, any security practitioner who manages or intends to deploy hundreds of thousands or millions of dollars of physical security technology should work to achieve this certification. Being able to effectively deploy security technology can be a career maker; not being so able can be a career breaker." - Ray Bernard, PSP, CHS-III

· John M. White, CPP, CHPA of Protection Management, LLC was published in the Journal of Healthcare Protection Management, volume 27, in a story titled, "Managing Risks When Security is Downsized." Click on the link below for the article. Downsizing Security

· Minieri Associates, a global independent security consulting and engineering firm, has introduced a training course for members of the American Institute of Architects through the organization's Continuing Education System (AIA / CES). The course is intended for all members of architectural and engineering (A&E) teams and may qualify for credit under some state licensing programs.
