| 8:30 AM - 9:30 AM | The Dark Side of Technology – Protecting Your Clients from Scams, Cons, and Hacks Michael Menz exposes the most dangerous scams, cons and hacks. Through live demonstrations, the white and dark side of technology will be explained. From cell phones to casinos and gambling, you’ll hear how easy the scams and hacks have been, and with a mix of humor, you’ll understand how to avoid becoming a victim, or at least identify what your risks are and what they could cost.
Speaker: Michael Menz, Manager, Global Cyber Security Investigations and Forensics Group, Hewlett Packard | Salons I & II |
| 9:40 AM - 10:40 AM | Communication and Credibility Nothing is more important than your Professional Credibility; it underlies everything you do. It is, and should be, the chief concern of any professional. Examine the foundations of Professionalism, Credibility and Communication to be in control of the impression you make by the way you speak. You can influence how you are perceived by the community, by juries, clients and by your colleagues with this knowledge of how communication works. Make it work for you.

MONDAY, APRIL 22 (CONTINUED)

- 12:00 PM - 1:30 PM Networking Lunch Salons III, V, VII, IX
Sponsored by Moog, Inc.
- 12:15 PM - 12:45 PM Lunch Chat with iView Systems Salons I & II
Join iView systems for an intimate chat session to discuss their services, and real-world applications and benefits.
Speaker: Tony Day, Senior Account Executive, iView Systems
Moderator: Alan Zajic, CPP, CSP, AWZ Consulting
- 1:00 PM - 1:30 PM Lunch Chat with Physical Security Interoperability Alliance Salons I & II
The Physical Security Interoperability Alliance (PSIA) has developed seven specifications to support interoperability between different types of security products, including video, storage, access control, analytics, and intrusion. PSIA joins IAPSC for this brief introduction to the initiatives it has developed, relative to the standardization of platforms across the security industry.
- 1:30 PM - 2:15 PM Next Generation Security Consulting Salons I & II
Aligning board-level risk and business unit mitigation strategy, and building strategic brand alliances, are “proven practices” that every next generation leader should know. This session will explore cross-functional, unified risk oversight, as well as return-on-investment capable approaches for board-level risk mitigation and organizational resilience.
Speakers: Francis D’Addario, CPP, CFE, Emeritus Faculty, Strategic Influence and Innovation, Security Executive Council and Principal at Crime Prevention Associates and Mark S. Lex, Emeritus Faculty, Security Executive Council
- 2:25 PM - 3:15 PM IT Security – It’s Time to Stop Being Afraid Salons I & II
IT Security is an element of our world that has been responsible for many solutions, while creating new problems that didn’t exist before. We need to embrace IT security, understand it, and work with it.
Speaker: Ray Coulombe, CSI, CDT, Founder and Managing Director, Security Specifiers
- 3:15 PM - 3:45 PM Afternoon Refreshment Break Salons III, V, VII, IX
Sponsored by Genetec, Inc.
- 3:45 PM - 4:30 PM How to Put on an Effective Webinar for Clients and Prospects Salons I & II
Yes you can do this. Its technical, it relies on technology and, it relies on the audience’s ability to use it as much as yours. But, it is an effective way to reach your target audience, communicate your message, and promote your services; all for little cost and from the comfort of your floppy slippers.
Speaker: Kristin Bodiford, Ph.D., Principal, Community Strengths
- 5:00 PM - 6:00 PM Networking Reception Salons III, V, VII, IX
Sponsored by TKH Security Solutions
